I spoke with Alex last week and was advised that we could load a demo version of the software that he would then authorize. I have not done so yet as I have been setting up the volume and general policies prior to loading the software.

I should have it up by Tuesday afternoon. At that time or any time thereafter we can communicate relating to usernames, and passwords. Please note I would like to identify the casual users and the more frequent users. Please also note that we will enforce a minimum of five characters for the passwords (more is better).

Once I have the software up, Alex can copy your base data over and activate your software. We should be able to do pre-production environment testing later this week with a view to TUG going live on MTrack ASAP.
