MID-RANGE HAS IT!

Does high availability for your IBM iSeries 400 have to be expensive?

No.

Mid-Range has teamed with Maximum Availability to bring you the noMax high availability & data replication product. No longer do you have to spend a lot of time and money to get 24/7/365 uptime for your company data. In some cases you can spend less on the entire *noMax product than you would (or are) on other high availability products' yearly maintenance fees. noMax can be purchased from Mid-Range or *noMax can be rented as a service. The service can include your replicated company data in a hosted environment at one or both of our two (2) hot-site disaster recovery centres. With noMax we can monitor your replicated data for integrity. We can do your off-site back-ups for you. We can host your replicated disaster recovery environment and we can do it at a reasonable price We can do anything you want us to do. We figure that's the way it should be. After all, you are the customer. Mid-Range & *noMax: High availability and data replication at a reasonable price.
